

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Rapid Equipment Hire Pty Ltd (REH) is committed to adhering to Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) standards and promoting environmentally sustainable practices and management.

To enable us to better maintain these commitments and present a strong competitive position in the marketplace, we have implemented a management system compliant with the ISO 9001-2008 and environmental controls following ISO 14001-2004 standards.

In particular, to meet our environmental obligations REH ensures that ...

- Environmental risks are identified, assessed and controls implemented for all workshop and delivery activities
- All personnel are suitably qualified, and are provided with adequate resources and training to stay ahead of standards and procedures
- We measure, monitor and report environmental performances and incidents for improvements
- Conduct monthly toolbox meetings with all staff to review and revise all environmental issues facing operations
- Personnel abide by any designated environmental risk controls. They are responsible for stopping any activities which they feel contravene safety and environmental requirements and regulations;
- We adopt appropriate pollution control measures for material spills, waste water and chemicals, including providing a designated Spill kit in the workshop.
- Environmental waste resources outside our control are to be serviced by a competent external contractor. These contractors are monitored their processes identified and validated
- Adopting the environmental controls specified for workshop and yard activities in accordance with legislative and regulatory controls;

This commitment to environment management enables us to complete projects efficiently and effectively. In doing so we foster the full support of our employees, suppliers and subcontract service providers in actively pursuing this quest for good management of environmental policies and procedures
